Books

QUE's "Special Edition Using SAP R/3" (Second Edition) is designed to assist managerial and IT professionals interested in implementing R/3 in their workplace. This all-encompassing reference book discusses the critical management decisions and considerations associated with moving a company to R/3. It provides business engineering information, training, implementation checklists, module-specific information and an entire yellow-page section on the SAP employment market and how to get help with implementations. In addition, this book also shows how R/3 can take advantage of the Internet by linking databases and catalogs to an intranet or the World Wide Web.

"Administering SAP R/3: MM-Materials Management Module" written by Jonathan Blain and published by QUE is a valuable reference tool for companies implementing SAP R/3's MM methodology and software. It focuses on the business and technical decisions that need to be made before, during, and after administration of the MM module, explaining how the Enterprise Data Model carries your company's data and how the SAP R/3 Business Engineer maximizes your system's performance. Learn to integrate the MM module with your existing SAP R/3 System and how to get users up and running with the Education and Training Course Planner.

"SAP R/3 Business Blueprint" (Thomas Curran & Gerhard Keller with Andrew Ladd) is an essential businessperson's guide to business process design. Using SAP's enterprise software product R/3 as a backdrop, it is the first book to explain the structure and content of common business processes that management deals with on a daily basis.

The authors paint the future of business process change by giving the reader the terminology, content, and technology behind an evolving standard for enterprises in the new age – the Business Blueprint. Explaining how to understand the process content of systems like R/3 and apply it to your company, the book provides a valuable collection of process and object descriptions that form the basis for streamlining your company in the future.
